D.B.Q.:
INTERNAL CONFLICT OR REVOLUTIONS IN WORLD HISTORY

This question is based on the accompanying documents. The question is designed to test you ability to work with historical documents. Some of the documents have been edited for the purpose of the question. As you analyze the documents, take into account both the source of each document and any point of view that may be presented in the document.

HISTORICAL CONTEXT:

Throughout world history, revolutions in different areas of the world have forever affected the way people think and live. A common thread among revolutions is that they have specific causes and effects. In the end, revolution is about change – change that continues to affect human history.

TASK: Using information from the documents and your knowledge of Global history, answer the questions that follow each document in Part A. Your answers to the questions will help you write the Part B essay in which you will be asked to:

- Discuss two major cause of two revolutions (one of these choices must be the French Revolution)
- Describe two major effects of each of the revolutions chosen
- Explain which revolution, in your opinion, had the greatest impact on the world

* You must use at least 8 of the documents in your essay

-------------

BRAINSTORM
PART A: Short-answer questions

DIRECTIONS: Analyze the documents and answer the short-answer questions (scaffolding questions) that follow each document in the space provided.

DOCUMENT 1

1. Cite two problems that a commoner faced before the French Revolution: (2)

1. ______________________________________________________________________________________
   ______________________________________________________________________________________
   ______________________________________________________________________________________
   ______________________________________________________________________________________

Score

----------------

DOCUMENT 2

In the south of France there is a taille (tax on the land and its produce). There is an injustice in levying (charging) the amount each person must pay. Lands held by the nobility are taxed very little. Lands held by commoners (members of the third estate) are taxed heavily.

September 5, 1788: The poor people seem very poor indeed. The children are terribly ragged.

June 10, 1789: The lack of bread is terrible. Stories arrive every moment from the great provinces of riot… The price of bread has risen above the commoners’ ability to pay. This causes great misery.

July 1789: … I was joined by a poor woman who complained of the hard times. "The tailles (defined above) and feudal dues (rents owed the lords) are crushing us," she said.

Arthur Young - TRAVELS IN FRANCE (1787-1789)

Arthur Young
DBQ CONTINUED

1. Which estate made up the vast majority of the population? (1)

______________________________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________________________

2. Why was this a problem? (2)

______________________________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________________________

Score

DOCUMENT 3

“If the government fails to fulfill the end for which it is established – the preservation of the individual’s right to life, liberty, and property – the people have a right to dissolve (overthrow) that government.”

John Locke – Second Treatise on Government (1690)

1. According to John Locke, when do the people have the right to overthrow a government? (2)

______________________________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________________________

Score

DOCUMENT 4
1. How is Napoleon portrayed in this painting? (2)

______________________________________________________________________________________________

______________________________________________________________________________________________

______________________________________________________________________________________________

Score

DOCUMENT 5

TIME LINE: Documents that limited the King of England’s power

1200 AD

1215
THE MAGNA
CARTA IS
SIGNED BY KING JOHN -
LIMITING
THE KING’S POWER FOR THE FIRST TIME

1628
THE PETITION OF RIGHTS IS SIGNED BY KING
CHARLES I

1689
THE ENGLISH
BILL OF RIGHTS IS SIGNED BY WILLIAM
AND MARY
OF ORANGE

1700 AD

1. What was the importance of the Magna Carta? (1)

______________________________________________________________________________________________

______________________________________________________________________________________________

______________________________________________________________________________________________

Score

2. What does this time line suggest about the struggle between the King of England and Parliament? (2)

______________________________________________________________________________________________

______________________________________________________________________________________________

______________________________________________________________________________________________

Score
1. What do these exchanges reveal about Charles I attitudes and beliefs about his role as King of England (3)?

___________________________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________________________

DOCUMENT 7

1. Cite two ways that the King's power was limited under the English Bill of Rights? (2)

- That the pretended power of suspending of laws or the execution of laws (passing and enforcing of laws) by regal (the King's) authority without consent of parliament is illegal.
- That it is the right of the subjects to petition the king (ask the King to help their cause) and all commitments and prosecutions (punishing the petitioners) for such petitioning are illegal.
- That the raising or keeping a standing army within the kingdom in times of peace unless it be with the consent of parliament is against law.
- That excessive bail ought not to be required nor excessive fines imposed nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.
- That the freedom of speech and debates or proceedings in parliament ought not to be impeached or questioned in any court or place out of parliament.

EXCERPTS FROM THE ENGLISH BILL OF RIGHTS 1689
2. Which body in England's government gained more power as a result of the Glorious Revolution? (1)

______________________________________________________________________________________________

______________________________________________________________________________________________

Score

DOCUMENT 8

TIMELINE: FOUR EVENTS

1776
AMERICA DECLARES ITS INDEPENDENCE FROM ENGLAND

1808
NAPOLEON TAKES OVER SPAIN

1650

1688-1689
THE GLORIOUS REVOLUTION

1789-1799
THE FRENCH REVOLUTION

1850

1. Why is the English Revolution considered so important in World History? (2)

______________________________________________________________________________________________

______________________________________________________________________________________________

Score
1. Which social class represented that class with the fewest rights, both economically and politically? (1)

__________________________________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________________________________

Score

2. Why does the cross, represented the Catholic Church, intercept all areas of the pre-Revolution social structure? (3)

__________________________________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________________________________

Score

DOCUMENT 10

“Independence from Spain did not bring about much change in social conditions in Latin America. Catholicism remained the official religion, and Church and government continued to be closely tied. The new countries also continued to maintain a separation between upper and lower classes. The dominant group was now the Creoles instead of the peninsulares. Creoles owned the best land and controlled business and government. … Even today there still remains a vast (big) gap between the ruling rich and the underprivileged poor.”

World History: The Human Experience (page 670)
1. According to the passage, briefly explain why the post-revolutionary society in Latin America is not much different from that of the pre-Revolutionary society: (2)

______________________________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________________________

Score

DOCUMENT 11

“Moved by your misfortunes, we have been unable to observe with indifference the afflictions you (the natives) were forced to experience by the barbarous Spaniards, who have ravished you, plundered you and brought you death and destruction. They have violated the sacred rights of nations. Let the monsters (the Spanish) who infest Colombian soil, who have drenched it with blood, be cast out forever…

Simon Bolivar 1813

1. What was the major goal of Simon Bolivar according to this document? (2)

______________________________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________________________

Score

DOCUMENT 12

Arise you children of our Motherland,
Oh now is here our glorious day!
Over us the bloodstained banner
Of tyranny holds sway!
Of tyranny holds sway!
Oh, do you hear there in our fields
The roar of those fierce fighting men?
Who came right here into our midst
To slaughter sons, wives and kin.
To arm, oh citizens!
Form up in serried ranks!
March on, march on!
And drench our fields
With the tainted blood!

La Marseillaise
DBQ CONTINUED

1. What do the words of La Marseillaise command the French to do? (2)

__________________________________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________________________________

DOCUMENT 13

“There is no liberty if the power of the judges is not separated from the legislative and executive powers. If the judicial branch were joined with the legislative branch, the life and liberty of the subject would be denied, for the judge would then be the legislator.”

Baron de Montesquieu (Spirit of the Laws: 1748)

1. What does Montesquieu consider a major threat to liberty? (2)

__________________________________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________________________________

DOCUMENT 14

“There is no liberty if the power of the judges is not separated from the legislative and executive powers. If the judicial branch were joined with the legislative branch, the life and liberty of the subject would be denied, for the judge would then be the legislator.”

Baron de Montesquieu (Spirit of the Laws: 1748)

1. According to Boussett, who rules indirectly through Kings and what is this theory called? (2)

__________________________________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________________________________

DBQ CONTINUED
1. What is the name of this model of the universe and how does it differ from the Geocentric Model? (3)

__________________________________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________________________________

Score

Part B
Essay

Directions: Write a well-organized essay that includes an introduction with a thesis statement, several paragraphs, and a conclusion. Use evidence from at least 8 documents in the body of the essay. Support your response with relevant facts, examples, and details. Include additional outside information.

HISTORICAL CONTEXT:

Throughout world history, revolutions in different areas of the world have forever affected the way people think and live. Though there are various reasons as to why revolutions take place, a common thread among them is that they have specific causes and effects. In the end, revolution is about change – change that continues to affect human history.

TASK: Using information from the documents and your knowledge of Global history, write an essay in which you:

- Discuss two major cause of two revolutions (one of these choices must be the French Revolution)
- Describe two major effects of each of the revolutions chosen
- Explain which revolution, in your opinion, had the greatest impact on the world